Blackpool Pleasure Beach said it was running into "significant financial difficulties". The park blamed a combination of ticket sales and the cost of running the new Mega Coaster rollercoaster for the financial losses. The car park, which opened in March last year, will be closed for six months from the end of April. However, the park said it would refund tickets and allow free entries to people who have already bought a ticket. image copyright Blackpool Pleasure Beach image caption Park bosses hoped the new rollercoaster would turn the park into a new family destination A large number of tickets were sold when the park opened, in the lead-up to the start of the school holidays. The park said it would refund tickets if people could show the card they bought a ticket with. The park's owners said there had been cost-cutting, with a "significant reduction" in staff numbers and an overhaul of the management structure. image copyright Blackpool Pleasure Beach image caption Blackpool Pleasure Beach said it was running into "significant financial difficulties" The owners of the park, known as Global Vision, said they were "exploring the possibility of a sale" of the park. 04aeff104c
