I'm not having any issues with that. However, as I'm now trying to use the Gson object, I'm stuck on how to parse a response and return an object correctly. So far, I'm able to retrieve a String, but when I'm trying to retrieve the ISON array for the parameters, it returns null instead of the object. This is what I'm trying to do: @GET("/rest/vehicle/{VIN}/vehicle") List getVehicles(@Query("VIN") final String vin, @Header(HTTP HEADER) final String secret); I'm having issues with creating the Gson object. I created a new class like: public class RetrofitTest { public class Vehicles { public String name; public String manufacturer; public String image; public Vehicles(String name, String manufacturer, String image) { this.name = name; this.manufacturer = manufacturer; this.image = image; } } public List getVehicles(String secret) { List vehicles = new ArrayList(); Gson e79caf774b
