Flex - Figure Reference Features Key:

- A full 4 scenarios. I am aiming for 8 in total. Scenarios will be released every 2 weeks on my YouTube.
- A free dungeonmaster save. If you ever get stuck, drop down to DNGS and find me (username cnidalex in DNGS)
- All of the original monsters from the campaign. I've included most of them.
- Lots of awesome GM guidelines to read. I feel like I might need to write some rules for this game. But I don't really want to.
- I am making this as a thread (spoiler) in the Dangers on Board (DOB) campaign. You can join for free right now.

The game will be released:

- On June 14th
- The campaign will be fully playable on that day.
- This free campaign will end on Oct 15th

Features first person gameplay. Features over 100 playable characters. Features over 50 different playable weapons, each with over 10 moves! Features multiple environments each with a unique story. Features an over 15 minute long story line and over 60 hidden secrets! Features bosses from every world. Features over 40 original challenges and puzzles! Features a campaign mode, and online multiplayer with easy mode. Features character progression and a trophy system. Features multiple game modes including story, free play, time attack and much more! FEATURES Authentic Cardioid is the vocal leader of the entire squad and provides inspiration to the entire squad. To stay in the lead and not lag behind, the team must remain on their toes at all times. They must manage the pressure of being one of the most popular characters, while simultaneously pushing themselves to achieve their own personal best. Danger knows how to survive, has a reputation for getting the job done with a smile on his face, and can even rescue people he feels like. He knows how to do the job and focus on it and always provides the leadership to keep the entire squad on task. He also loves cats! Heart-centered and easy-going, Neri provides the necessary support and allows the team to stay on task and finish the job. Neri is able to assist the group during both difficult and easy jobs. He loves his job and is always ready to help a friend in need, even if that friend is a huuuge cat. Black Salt is the member of the team that has the biggest range. He loves to stay hidden while he does his job, and not only that, but he is also not worried about going out of range and into danger. The only downside to this is that he doesn't know what he wants to do in the end. Black Salt is a skilled fighter who likes to joke and have fun. He is easily the most creative person on the team, as well as the only one to break through the walls. Advanced-Fusion, as her name suggests, is very advanced in her job, and is responsible for leading the entire team. She is in charge of scanning, communicating and leading the group while fighting off enemies. She will even work with an enemy and defeat him or her for the good of the team. She truly is the most capable fighter, and also can perform many tricks to keep herself safe

What's new in Flex - Figure Reference:

: A Writer's Journey Pages It was April, and the weather had turned chilly. Stiff breezes blew around the heath and gave me a rasp in my throat, but I just kept on walking. I'd turned twenty-seven weeks pregnant and was nearing the end of my first trimester. Mine was a 'natural childbirth', of sorts, not that I was saying it wasn't going to be amazing. As I strode along, my passage so full of gas that it felt as if I'd developed a new love of the gassy feeling, I thought back to when I was eight or nine. I couldn't remember now, but I thought my mam probably took me out for a walk every morning just like this before the school day. I remembered being so energetic that I would skip along the dirt road, eating one of her savory pikelets for breakfast every morning before I started my lesson. I could hear the sound of squeaking wheels, the sound of laughter and chatter, and someone singing a song. Peat was lurking, of course, but not exactly lurking anymore. He was probably warming up a bit, knowing I'd be joining the children in the park, as I always did. Today I didn't, though. I was tired of football, and anyway, I'd planted a beauty-thief pit for Peat and his friends ages ago on the private road that led to the park. They'd all be busy running around and hopping from one hedge to the next, but Peat wasn't, he wasn't nearly so foolish as that. Me on the other hand, I wasn't immune to the odd Hollywood puffball, and I knew it. Besides, today Peat was lying somewhere in the grassy park, waiting for me. Even if he wasn't, I wouldn't have gone to the park. As I approached the familiar spot, I could see someone seated on a bench, a beautiful person with bright hair and big eyes in an orange vest. She glanced my way and smiled, and I was instantly drawn inside my head, into her thoughts and her mind. I didn't know her well, not really, but the more I got to know about her, the more I wanted to hear her story. I wanted to know what made the most beautiful woman I'd ever known depressed, and the origins of the violent attack that laid her throat open from ear to ear. I wanted to know
