The southern lands of Osterland are a safe realm for all who practice the light side of the Force. No Sith or Jedi exist among the populace and none enters the land. The armies of Star-Wars - villains, villains and more villains - have nearly choked the safe and happy northern side of the border line, because it resists their evil machinations. But it doesn't seem to bother the elite inhabitants of Osterland.

For some time now, the torah, the twin swords of good, sit in peace. But with great interest, the elite know that the powerful Force wielders have finally left the southern hemisphere to further their pursuit of the dark side of power - the lochtal. Resurrected evil, the Force is unrivaled in its malevolent power. Leorians, dark Jedi and dark lords. But these evil forces are soon to meet their demise at the hands of the rebels who are united under the leadership of Princess Adale, and who have accepted the magic of the lochtal to aid their ways. Now, the once peaceful lands of Osterland, which should rest in peace, are to be wiped out by the dagblades of evil.

There is one demon that must be exorcised from the hospital as a warning to others who might visit. You also need to find clues that you can use to unlock doors. Each door has a code on it that can be input on a keyboard or into a computer using the "Back" button. These clues and codes can either be found or unlocked using the keys on the computer or on the hospital floors. If you are playing a computer version, you must have the appropriate USB keyboard that is commonly known as a "chiclet keyboard". You also must have a headset with audio cables. These can easily be purchased online or at your local gaming store. You cannot play the game on your mobile phone as it does not have enough power to work. You can only play a USB version and that is it. The hospital is in the back and is full of things that are not there normally. There is the right place for everything and you cannot skip over anything. The hospital is dark and creepy as hell. You can even see ghosts floating around some of the rooms. A man appears in the hospital and tells you his name is Dr. Mann. He is "an elder in the realm of slumber". He tells you that the hospital was dedicated in 1838. However, you know that the hospital was never built and was never completed. An administrator tells you that you are the first to see the hospital ever. Your first impression is that it's an abandoned lunatic asylum. You look around the rooms and see that the floors are dirty and the walls are gray and crumbling. Everything seems to have that old, dusty, moth-eaten look to it. You can also see a clock that says it's 3:00 a.m. There are about thirty doors in the hospital, but only twelve of them are locked. You have to complete these doors by completing a simple puzzle to gain access to them. After each door, there is a clue that you can input using the keyboard, or using a computer. The codes change with every clue, but are obvious. The codes are simple and are generally in the form of numbers and letters. You just need to figure out what they mean. Some of the keys on the keyboard will only work with the codes. The codes are all either numbers or letters, but some are in-between the two. These in-between codes are not the combination, but the out-of-order code. After unlocking one door, you can go to the next door and unlock it. At CCA is a relatively uncommon tumor in Serbia compared to other neighboring countries. The aim of this study is to present clinical characteristics of cholangiocarcinoma with particular reference to group of patients where clinical and pathological diagnosis of cholangiocarcinoma was made and subsequently confirmed by bilirubin concentration in the bile. Retrospective analysis of our database with 14 years of observation period (1999-2012), in the Luka Brezevic Memorial Clinical and Research Institute of Surgery Department of Surgery. In the Department of Surgery between 1999 and 2012, out of 2530 patients operated for bile duct cancer, 4 were diagnosed with cholangiocarcinoma. Occurrence of CCA in reported sample is 0.15%. Pre-operative diagnosis was made in all patients. Median survival is 16 months. Sarcomas, lymphomas and prostatic carcinoma were underlying diseases found in our patients. We think that the possibility of undetected carcinoma should be taken into consideration in differential diagnosis of biliary cancers.
