supporters demonstrated outside the White House in favor of immigration reform on Saturday, saying they shouldn't be forced to leave the United States because of the Obama-era Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals (DACA) program. "We are asking President Trump to keep his promise, to do the right thing for us, and that is not end DACA," resident Andres Diaz told WABC. "We

are not criminals, but the state is trying to label us as criminals.” Trump has said that he will not approve permanent DACA protections, but wants Congress to pass legislation that provides a path to citizenship for undocumented immigrants who were brought here as children. Last week, the Trump administration took the unprecedented step of ending the program on a deadline imposed by an earlier Supreme Court ruling. As a result, an estimated 800,000 undocumented immigrants will now lose the protections that permit them to work in the United States, and hope to be granted reprieve from deportation. Trump has said repeatedly that DACA was an unconstitutional use of executive authority, but did not take any concrete steps to end the program. On Friday, the Department of Homeland Security announced that the program's sunset date had been moved to March 5, and reiterated his position that it is an unconstitutional move to use executive authority.

“Today's announcement, in addition to the many unconstitutional Executive Orders on the books, is part of a pattern of executive overreach that threatens the basic tenets of our Constitutional system. It is not too
