Q: Ajax view model on return I am relatively new to Ajax so forgive me if this is a very basic question. I am using ajax to validate some properties of an object when it is returned. If the validation fails I get a message that says "Invalid data is in the form... I would like to be able to display this message on the page as well as log it. So I have added a View Model that the AJAX calls are passing. So I am returning two objects from the POST method the view model and the actual object. Then the AJAX call passes this into the view model. So the object actually returns fine, I can see it with the debugger and the return type is the desired object type. But the view model is empty on return! So

What's New in the SIMMS Inventory Software?

SIMMS Inventory Software integrates with many other Office Applications to provide your business with the best inventory tracking and management software available today. It also provides businesses with the best barcode reading technology and scanning solutions. It is very powerful in comparison to other solutions but does not include the features you need to manage your inventory in any efficient way. SIMMS Inventory Software is the only software solution designed to work with your current MS-Access database without having to start over. Choose from multiple scanning solutions, inventory management, barcode reading and software syncing.

Q: Make sure that the ^M is printed at the end of a file, instead of beginning of next line What I want to do is to make sure that the last ^M (carriage return), which is the EOL character, is printed on the same line, instead of appearing on next line. Please don't ask me to fix the faulty script. The script is already fixed. And hence I want to do this. I want to make sure the EOL character (carriage return) is printed on the same line, instead of appearing on next line. My script which has this fault is: `cd /tmp && cat file > ~/testfile && /usr/bin/head -1 ~/testfile && /usr/bin/head -1 ~/testfile | sed -e's/^\*\*\*\*\*\*\*\*$/> ~/testfile` And here is the sample of the last line from the original file: `#include #include #include #include #include #include #include #include int main(int argc, char argv) { int fd; int ch; if ((fd = open("/tmp/testfile", O_RDONLY)) == -1) { fprintf(stderr, "Error opening file %s.", "/tmp/testfile");`
