A taste of the Licence is available to purchase at the end of the training. You can taste the Licence in a couple of ways: The 'Ride the Ride' piece of meat: After a few hours on the bike, some hours with cold medicine and a bottle of Licence IV, you will wake up the next day with a bone-crushing hangover and a post-ride conference about how nice Licence IV was. We usually let you take home a bottle of the Licence for your own refreshment on a ride. This is not a bad idea, as you can buy a 12-month supply of the Licence for only £30. The 'Cold Herbal' option: Licence IV is a very good companion for your cold or flu or general physical discomfort. Try our Licence IV Cold Remedy. It is also used in emergency services and for travel. If taken during a major event, it can reduce excessive talking. We can't be responsible for the safety of the products used during training. In the event of an accident, you are using the product at your own risk and we accept no liability for personal injury or loss of personal property. If you are injured or your property is damaged during training, you must contact us first before embarking on a claim with a third party. The Licence is provided under a publication scheme and is subject to statutory revision. If you want to see the statutory revision you will need to contact us. The Ubuntu Font Family is presently distributed under the Ubuntu Font Licence. This means you can use the font in much the same way as you would use any other font (open or proprietary). The open means that in the long run, the font can continue to be expanded, because the raw source code (design files) for the font itself are available to those who are interested.
